

Contents

1	Introduction and Reflections	1
	Eiman Karar
2	The Establishment of Catchment Management Agencies in South Africa with Reference to the Flussgebietsgemeinschaft Elbe: Some Practical Considerations	15
	Richard Meissner, Sabine Stuart-Hill, and Zakariya Nakhooda
3	Towards Inclusive Water Governance: OECD Evidence and Key Principles of Stakeholder Engagement in the Water Sector	29
	Aziza Akhmouch and Delphine Clavreul
4	Free-Market Economics and Developmental Statism as Political Paradigms: Implications for Water Governance Theory and Practice in Developing Countries	51
	Claudius Chikozho and Everisto Mapedza
5	Urban Water Governance as a Function of the ‘Urban Hydrosocial Transition’	81
	Chad Staddon, Robert Sarkozi, and Sean Langberg
6	Urban Water Governance for the Twenty-First Century: A Portfolio-Based Approach to Planning and Management	103
	Ganesh Keremane, Jennifer McKay, and Zhifang Wu
7	Rights-Based Freshwater Governance for the Twenty-First Century: Beyond an Exclusionary Focus on Domestic Water Uses	129
	Barbara Van Koppen, Anne Hellum, Lyla Mehta, Bill Derman, and Barbara Schreiner
8	Inclusive Transboundary Water Governance	145
	Anton Earle and Marian J. Neal

9	Mechanisms for Inclusive Governance	159
	Raymond L. Ison and Philip J. Wallis
10	Water Integrity: From Concept to Practice	187
	Håkan Tropp, Alejandro Jiménez, and Hélène Le Deunff
11	Addressing the Groundwater Governance Challenge	205
	Marguerite de Chaisemartin, Robert G. Varady, Sharon B. Megdal, Kirstin I. Conti, Jac van der Gun, Andrea Merla, Geert-Jan Nijsten, and Friedemann Scheibler
12	Water Governance Futures in South Asia and Southern Africa: Déjà Vu All Over Again?	229
	Douglas J. Merrey, Anjal Prakash, Larry Swatuk, Inga Jacobs, and Vishal Narain	